IFCCI Recognised by ASEAN Records and Asia Records for Advancing Professional Financial Education Through Applied Research

Wednesday 12/08/2026

IFCCI receives recognition from ASEAN Records and Asia Records for its contribution to professional financial education through applied financial market research, reinforcing its commitment to advancing professional standards, research excellence and financial competency across the region.

KUALA LUMPUR, Aug 12 (Bernama) -- The International Financial Consultant Certified Institute (IFCCI) has been recognised by ASEAN Records and Asia Records for its outstanding contribution to professional financial education through applied financial market research. The recognition follows the documented achievement of IFCCI's Education and Research Unit 001 in producing verified annual research with a cumulative documented research value exceeding USD50 million. ASEAN Records and Asia Records Honour IFCCI for Outstanding Financial Market Research Achievement.

The recognition places IFCCI among professional institutions acknowledged for making measurable contributions towards education, applied research, competency development and industry advancement across the ASEAN and Asian regions.

As financial markets continue to evolve under the influence of global economic developments, technological innovation and changing regulatory environments, evidence-based research has become increasingly important in supporting responsible financial education and professional competency development. Recognising this need, IFCCI has continued to strengthen applied research as one of the core pillars of its professional education ecosystem.

According to IFCCI, quality financial education should be supported by credible research, objective analysis and practical application. The institute believes that combining education with structured research helps develop professionals who are capable of making informed, ethical and responsible financial decisions while contributing positively to the financial services industry.

The recognised research was conducted by Trading Castle, IFCCI's designated Education and Research Unit 001, which supports the institute's professional education, competency assessment, curriculum development and continuous professional learning initiatives.

Beyond recognising research excellence, the ASEAN Records and Asia Records acknowledgement reflects the growing importance of evidence-based financial education and demonstrates how independent professional institutions can contribute towards raising industry standards through structured research, competency development and responsible knowledge sharing.

IFCCI reaffirmed its commitment to maintaining internationally recognised standards while continuously enhancing the quality of its educational programmes, applied research, competency frameworks and industry collaboration initiatives. The institute also plans to further strengthen collaboration with academics, market practitioners and industry experts, while expanding professional certification programmes, research publications and regional knowledge-sharing initiatives.

The institute believes the recognition serves as an important milestone in its long-term mission of advancing financial education, strengthening professional competency and promoting greater transparency, professionalism and public confidence within the financial services industry.

With a continued focus on measurable impact, international collaboration and lifelong professional learning, IFCCI remains committed to contributing towards a more trusted, responsible and sustainable financial ecosystem across ASEAN and Asia.
